these drug profiteers are dousing chickens with drugs when in fact the agricultural producers are raising chickens in such horrible, disgusting environments that the chickens are becoming sick. the issue is that consumers are having to also ingest these drugs because of them being fed to chickens, who are stressed and unhealthy due to inhumane raising practices. more than 5 chickens are in crates the size of a piece of typing paper, their beaks are chopped off, sometimes several times, they live in feces, with feces from chickens in crates above falling on them, they die in their cages sometimes, inhumane workers sometimes crush their heads against the floor to kill them, they are fed endless amounts of these drugs and nobody is concerned about the vaccine adjuvants that keep the vaccines from perishing. who knows what the adjuvants are in these drugs that this dept is administering - are the adjuvants mercury? formaldehyde? what other poison keeps the vaccines fresh? the consumers of the us are the guinea pigs of an obviously very terribly broken system which constantly brings in e coli diseases and other diseases to kill american citizens and their children. this whole system needs complete revision and new lawmaking. we cannot trust the usda to make humane rules for raising healthy chickens that dont need all of these drugs. this consent agreement helps absolutely nothing. when will the us wise up and start seeing to healthy food instead of billion dollar profiteering for agribusiness and drug companies?
